Customer Reviews

This workbook has been a lifesaver with my daughter as her grandfather was recently diagnosed with terminal cancer. They are very close and this workbook has helped her work thru many of her emotions. We purchased this workbook together with the book, "When Someone I Love Has Cancer". Both tools have been very beneficial. She turns to them often when she is having a tough time.

This book was a bit over my 4-year old's head, but she loves to draw and is enjoying the book. My 8 year old is really getting a lot out of this...the drawing as well as fill in the blanks. It is helping my husband and I talk about my husband's illness and how our son is processing it.

This book is amazing and perfect for a child who has a loved one going through cancer. The book helps the child understand what is going on, who to turn to if they have questions, what is going on inside of THEM and that they're amazing. This is perfect for a child

This coloring book really helped my kid understand that the seasons are just like people in a way that in the winter plants die and sometimes people do too and in the spring things are reborn and people are also born in the spring sometimes as well. It also sparks some creativity in her life. It also is kind of is like somebody to talk to she says it explains to her why she's sad and I think it really helps her.

I bought this for my 4 year old granddaughter whose parents (mom and dad) have cancer and going through chemo. It is also good for older kids like my 12 year old grandson who does not talk a lot about issues but will hopefully draw pictures as he deals with issues.

We gave this as a gift to my in-laws to help their kids deal with cancer in the family. We were told it was helpful.

I purchased this book for a 10 year old girl whose mother is currently undergoing treatment for breast cancer. It has been very therapeutic for her and has been a kick-starter for conversations on fear, hope, and a whole range of emotions. She was very quiet when she first found out about her mother's illness. She held so much in. This book has helped give her a voice on how she feels about the situation. She loves the crayons and loves using her creativity to express how she is feeling. Every child who has a parent with cancer needs this book. It has made a big difference in how she is coping with things.
